

Schedule Cultura. International Journal of Philosophy of Culture and Axiology appears on the following dates:

June 30th
December 30th

Call for Papers

Deadline for sending materials:

April 1st
October 1st

Author information Prospective authors should send their contributions to the following address: journal.axiology@yahoo.com The editorial staff may alter manuscripts wherever necessary to make them conform to the journal's style. Although we accept papers in German, French, Italian and Spanish, we encourage those written in English. The language must be checked by a native speaker.

The manuscript should be prepared according to the following guidelines:

TITLE Do not underline, italicize, or place your title in quotation marks; write the title in Title Case (standard capitalization), not in all capital letters. If the article is in another language, the manuscripts must include the translation of the title in English

NAME AND PROFESSIONAL ADDRESS

Together with the manuscript, the authors must send their actual professional address and the e-mail address.

ABSTRACT

No more than 200 words, in English.

KEYWORDS 5-7 words in English.

TEXT

The manuscript cannot be longer than 8000 words. The book reviews cannot be longer than 3000 words. The manuscript should be typed and single-spaced on A4 paper, Gramond style 12. Emphasizing italics are not to be used excessively. Bold type is not used anywhere in an article, apart from the title. Use italics for the title of the work and, only when is absolutely necessary, providing emphasis. If the paper is divided into sections use an Arabic number and a period followed by a space and the section name. In-text citations: any source information that you provide in-text must correspond to the source information on the References page. The author's last name and the page number(s) from which the quotation or paraphrase is taken must appear in the text, and a complete reference should appear on your References page. The author's name may appear either in the sentence itself or in parentheses following the quotation or paraphrase, but the page number(s) should always appear in the parentheses, not in the text of your sentence. When a source has no known author, use a shortened title of the work instead of an author name. Place the title in quotation marks if it's a short work (e.g. articles) or italicize it if it's a longer work (e.g. plays, books, television shows, entire websites) and provide a page number. Do not include URLs in-text. Only provide partial URLs such as when the name of the site includes a domain.

Multiple citations. To cite multiple sources in the same parenthetical reference, separate the citations by a semi-colon. Quoted material, translations and page references must be exact. For short quotations enclose the quotation within double quotation marks. Question marks and exclamation points should appear within the quotation marks if they are a part of the quoted passage but after the parenthetical citation if they are a part of your text. The extended quotations (40+ words) are displayed (with left indentation). In displayed quotations no quotation marks are used around the quotation itself.

ENDNOTES

The manuscripts must include references and/or endnotes, not footnotes. All cited authors must be included in references and/or endnotes. Notes are always endnotes. Short references should be included in the text of articles and not put in endnotes. Use the endnotes as bibliographical notes, which refer to other publications your readers may consult or as explanatory notes (content notes), which refers to brief additional information that might be too digressive for the main text.

WORKS CITED

For every entry, you must determine the Medium of Publication (Print or Web sources). If you're citing an article or a publication that was originally issued in print form but that you retrieved from an online database, you should type the online database name in italics. Capitalize each word in the titles of articles, books, etc, but do not capitalize articles (the, an), short prepositions or conjunctions unless one is the first word of the title or subtitle: The Art of War. Use italics for titles of works (books, magazines) and quotation marks for titles of shorter works (poems, articles). Format: One author: Lastname, Firstname. Title of Book. Place of Publication: Publisher, Year of Publication. Two authors: Lastname, Firstname and Firstname Lastname. Title of Book. Place of Publication: Publisher, Year of Publication. Medium of Publication. More than three authors: Lastname, Firstname, et. al. Title of Book. Place of Publication: Publisher, Year of Publication. Chapter in collective work: Lastname, Firstname. "Title of chapter." Title of Book, Collection. Ed. Editor's Name(s). Place of Publication: Publisher, Year of Publication. Page range of entry. Article: Lastname, Firstname. "Title of article." Title of Journal Volume. Issue (Year): pages. Web entries must follow a similar format. Lastname, Firstname. "Title of article." Title of Journal Volume. Issue (Year): pages. Medium of Publication. Day month year

NOTES

1. The author assumes all responsibility for the ideas expressed in the material published. Submission of a manuscript implies: that the work described has not been published before; that it is not under consideration for publication anywhere else; that its publication has been approved by all co-authors, if any, as well as by the responsible authorities – tacitly or explicitly – at the institute where the work has been carried out. The publisher will not be held legally responsible should there be any claims for compensation.
2. The authors have the obligation to respect all rules concerning the law governing copyright. Authors wishing to include figures, tables, or text passages that have already been published elsewhere are required to obtain permission from the copyright owner(s) for both the print and online format and to include evidence that such permission has been granted when submitting their papers. Any material received without such evidence will be assumed to originate from the authors. 3. All texts are reviewed by two experts. The double-blind peer review process is expected to take 2-3 months or more in some cases. The editors may ask for revision and may require reformatting of accepted manuscripts.
